Business Intelligence Journal

In collaboration with the Business Intelligence Service of London, UK and with the European Business School of Cambridge, UK, the Business Intelligence Journal (BIJ), produced by the Department of Business Management and Economics (BME) at the School of Doctoral Studies of the European Union, hosted at the Isles Internationales Universit e (IIU-EU) in Brussels, Belgium, publishes research, analysis and inquiries into issues of importance to the business community. Articles in BIJ examine emerging trends and concerns in the areas of general management, business law, public responsibility and ethics, marketing theory and applications, business finance and investment, general business research, business and economics education, production/operations management, organizational behavior and theory, strategic management policy, social issues and public policy, management organization, statistics and econometrics, personnel and industrial relations, technology and innovation, case studies, and management information systems. The goal of BIJ is to broaden the knowledge of business professionals and academicians by promoting free access and provide valuable insight to business-related information, research and ideas. All articles included in the BIJ are peer-reviewed. The Business Intelligence Journal is published semiannually (one volume per year) by the Business Intelligence Service of Secured Assets Yield Corporation Limited based in London, UK.
